MACLEOD SCHOOL FAIR BOOSTERS HOLD MEETING

The annual organization meeting of the Macleod school fair association was held Saturday afternoon, March 27th, when a fair number of representatives of school districts and teachers were present. The annual reports and financial statement for 1925 were presented by the secretary-treasurer and showed a small balance on the right side. The reports showed that the fair of 1925 was very successful so far as entries and exhibits were concerned, considering the unfavorable weather conditions on the fair day, the exhibits of school work, vegetables and livestock were exceptionally good, and the boys and girls deserved great credit for the way they prepared their exhibits. On account of the weather there were no sports, and the young folks were very much disappointed at missing their sports.

SETTLEMENT SCHEME PROPOSAL ACCEPTED, PREMIER BROWNLEE

Edmonton, March 26.—Premier Brownlee informed the Herald this morning that, at a conference between himself and federal immigration commissioner, W. L. Little this morning, it was agreed that the province would accept the proposal of the Dominion government relative to bringing in certain numbers of British settlers.

The gist of the agreement is that the province will notify the Dominion government of the number of such settlers it desires brought in. The government will, thereupon, endeavor to direct such number of British settlers to the province, and the province takes the responsibility to receive them and to find them suitable land in the various districts in which they wish to carry on certain kinds of farming.

Mr. Brownlee said the agreement did not go as far as he would like it to, because transportation companies are bringing in at present many other settlers for which no arrangements have been made. Under the new British settlers' scheme, by the Dominion assisting their passage by ship and rail, the settlers get a reduced rate which lands them at Alberta points for about $60 each.

A similar agreement has been signed by Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

and girls started, and in time they would be supplying the food with seed grain.

If they drive a car under sixteen, they usually drive it over about as many.

Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims upon the estate of the late Mary Kate Marsh, who died on the fourth day of August, A.D. 1925, are required to send the undersigned executors or their solicitor, on or before the thirtieth day of April, 1926, a full statement of their claims and of any securities held by them, duly verified, and that after that date the said executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the deceased among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which notice has been filed with the said executors or their solicitor of the said estate.

DOES DEMOCRACY DESTROY COURAGE?

Sudden return to London of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to Turkey, has emphasized the gravity of the relations that are developing between Britain and the Ottoman Republic.

But the most interesting thing about these relations is not the questions involved themselves, but the new courage of the Turks in talking up to the first-class powers.

Ten years ago, Turkey was a cringing nation, almost a vassal barter in the international market. Today she speaks out with the courage of a world power.

And the condition that has wrought that change is the appearance of a dictator who has crystallized all the latent courage and intellect of Turkey into one tongue and one brain.

What has happened in Turkey has also happened in Italy. Mussolini's dictatorship has revived Italian spirit like old wine.

The truth is that democracy puts nations to sleep. It makes them slow, heavy and dull. They create a machine and expect the machine to adjust everything and do everything, even the thinking. The men with natural leadership go into business, into industry, into the professions—go everywhere except into politics, for the simple reason that politics no longer holds out the honor and glory it once did.

Democracy is still an experiment—a very doubtful experiment. And leaders are still more valuable than fine theories.

ORGANIZED FARMING FOR PROFITS

Backed by J. C. Penny, founder of 700 successful chain stores, a tremendous experiment in organized farming has been started in Clay County, Florida.

Nearly 200 square miles have been set aside for this experiment. The settler may live a year in a house provided for him without payment of any kind, till the soil and leave at the end with his profits if he wishes. But so far, all the settlers have been eager to remain, buying 20-acre plots almost on their own terms for $3500 or $4500 each.

The point of the whole experiment is not the financing scheme, but the organization, that is essential in the community. The co-operative spirit is at the bases of the whole plan, which is to be a study in mass production and mass merchandising.

Farm production today is miles behind industrial production as to cost, equipment, labor and scientific knowledge. The farmer sells his product, individually to a market that is organized for favorable buying. He buys individually from institutions that are organized for favorable selling.

Thus the individual farmer is in direct and continuous competition with the most highly organized bodies in the world. And the only way he can ever meet that competition is by similar concentration and organization.

J. C. Penny's effort to raise farm production to high industrial production is an experiment that holds one of the major problems of this century.

DANGER

In case you think your own life is a bit tough, consider the case of Lieut. Frank O'D. Hunter, operations officer at Selfridge Field, Mich.

Lieut. Hunter began his career as an aviator during the war when he brought down eight German planes. Then, a couple of years ago, his plane came down in a crash and he broke his back. He recovered, went back to aviation, and had to jump out in a parachute while 2000 feet above the ground when his stabilizer frame collapsed. Now he has again flirted with death by leaping 800 feet—in a parachute, of course—to the ice of Lake St. Clair. His plane caught fire.

Some day, if that young man doesn't watch out, he's going to get into danger.

ALBERTA LEGISLATURE—NO BUDGET AMENDED—DEBATE COLLAPSE—DISPOSITION OF HIGHWAY GRANT—RAILWAY WANTED WEST OF C. & E.

During the past week the Alberta House has been working at high pressure with a view to cleaning up the business on hand by Easter. There is a possibility that another short session will be held after Easter, if the Dominion makes any change in the agreement re Natural Resources, and has its rural credit bill in shape.

Budget Agreed To

It has been expected that the budget debate, which opened Monday with the address of the leader of the opposition, J. C. Bowen, would continue till Wednesday, but it died on Monday evening, after one other Liberal, W. T. Henry, has spoken, and four Farmer members had replied to Mr. Bowen's criticisms.

Other Liberals had been expected to speak, and Premier Brownlee was to have wound up the debate, but the Liberals showed no inclination to go on, and the Premier was out of the House that evening. There was no amendment, and no dissent when the budget motion was put. This is considered extraordinary, particularly in a pre-election session.

In his address on the Budget the Liberal leader doubted the accuracy of the surplus announced last year, claiming that it had not been for the highway grant of the Dominion Government being placed in income instead of capital, and the unusually high amount received in 1925 in succession duties there would have been a surplus. The Government had added $27,000,000 to the bonded debt in the past five years, and had no fiscal policy. He suggested a vigorous land settlement policy, and a bigger effort to find coal markets.

Answering the opposition leader, Hon. Geo. Hoadley said he had never listened to such a melancholy and pessimistic address, the publication of which would do harm to Alberta. The statements made were unfair and inaccurate. The Canadian highway grant was properly put into income, as the amount, $274,000, had been spent out of income in 1924, and the sum received from Ottawa was a repayment. The net addition to the debt during the Government's term of office was less than $19,000,000, and over $16,000,000 of this was rendered necessary by commitments of the previous administration.

Urges Inspection of Immigrants. Referring to immigration, Mr. Hoadley argued for a proper medical inspection in Europe. The people now conducting the examination were steamship and transportation officials, whose idea of qualifications for immigrants seemed to be the ability to pay the fare and walk aboard the ship. More than half the people of Alberta asylums and hospitals were foreign born, but it was next to impossible to deport them, because they were destitute.

Other speakers in the debate were: W. T. Henry (Liberal, Edmonton), Russell Lewis (U.F.A., Wainwright), W. H. Shields (U.F.A., Macleod) and Donald Cameron (U.F.A., Innisfail).

Liberals Want Money Spent on Main Highways

A full-dress debate was staged on Wednesday on the Canada Highways Act. R. C. Marshall, (Liberal Calgary), and J. C. Bowen, opposition leader, supporting a resolution that the Government should spend all money earned under the Dominion Highways Act for the construction of highways in the Province. They contended that the money should not be placed in general revenue, but specially devoted to main highways, which in the opinion of the Liberal speakers, did not include market roads. The money received was being used for political purposes, and to balance the budget.

Premier Brownlee replying said that the argument was absurd. Every dollar received from the Canada Highways Act was spent on highways and would continue to be spent on highways. Hon. Alex. Ross, Minister of Public Works, said that as against $274,000 of a grant, earned in 1924, and received in 1925, the province had expended $1,300,000 in 1924 and a similar amount in 1925, on highways, bridges, and interest on highway projects. The Dominion would not give the grant unless it was expended on highways. Market roads, to get grain, etc., to markets, were highways, and as much entitled to grants as the trunk tourist roads.

Moving as an amendment to the addition of the words "main highways" to the resolution read that the Government should continue to spend the money received from Canada Highways Act on highways, the vote resulted in, Bowen, Dechen, Marshall and Pingle, Liberals, voting against the amendment, while the motion as amended carried without audible dissent.

Estimates and Legislation. During the week consideration of the estimates was taken up, the votes for the Departments of Agriculture, Health, Provincial Secretary, and Public Works being passed.

A number of bills were passed through the committee stage.

Nelson Smith, (U.F.A., Oids) and Donald Cameron (U.F.A., Innisfail) moved and seconded on Thursday, a resolution asking the Canadian National Railway to construct a line from the Brazeau line of the C.N.R., to Calgary, to serve the district west of the Calgary and Edmonton railway which had been promised railway facilities in 1910. There was a fine farming district east of the foothills, but many settlers were considering moving out as they had to haul their produce long distances to the railway at present. Alex. Moore, (U.F.A., Cochrane), Joe Dechen, (Liberal, Beaver River), Sam Brown (U.F.A., High River), R. C. Marshall (Liberal, Calgary), Geo. Hoadley (U.F.A., Okotoks), Mrs. McClung (Liberal,

"AGRICULTURE AND CO-OPERATION"—PAPER READ BY MRS. FANSETT AT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE SPRING-TIME RALLY ON TUESDAY, MARCH 16th, 1926.

"Modern agriculture has revolutionized the conditions of human life; it made modern civilization possible. It is said to have first been practised in Mesopotamia, Egypt or adjacent lands not more than 8000 years ago. It is certainly not more than 5000 years ago since agriculture began to be practised in Western Europe. The vast majority of the people of Great Britain, probably 90 per cent of them, are descendants of men and women who, 200 generations ago were dependent on the natural but precarious harvest which is provided by shore, river, forest, and moorland." These are the words of Sir Arthur Keith, one of the greatest living authorities on Anthropology and on the Antiquity of Man. He also says that most Londoners if they could go back 20 generations would find an ancestry which was living on the soil and of the soil. And now the poorest of us can add to our dietary produce brought from the ends of the earth. Agriculture is thus seen to be older than civilization, and certainly older than modern civilization. We have only to go back a couple of hundred years to the infancy of what is now the United States of America.

"George Washington was born and reared on the farm, died on the farm and lies buried on the farm." Such was its importance in Washington's day when, intelligence, wealth, dignity, influence, all went with farming.

The importance of agriculture in Canada at the present time may be judged from the Canada Year Book of 1921 which gives Canada's gross value of farm products for that year of about one billion and a third dollars, Alberta's share being about one hundred and twenty millions of dollars, according to the United States census of 1910 agriculture still leads over manufacturing in amount of capital invested and has a bigger percentage of persons employed than has manufacturing, trade and transportation, and professional and other services.

The importance of agriculture in modern industrial society is perhaps not fully realized. E. G. Mours, writing in the Journal of Political Economy says the farmer cannot hope to make his labours on the land achieve the maximum productivity possible to the modern industrial state of his art unless there are great factories turning out labour-saving implements and fertilizers and mill-feeds. American farming would lapse back into an ineffectual past if it were deprived of building materials and potash by the closing of cement mills; or if it found the supply of slag phosphate or the raw materials of its implements failing, curtailed by the decline of our steel industry; if it did not find that under an effective division of labour, rock phosphate and ground limestone and hog cholerera serums and electric light plants and automobiles and papers, magazines, books were all produced for it by specialized but non-farming groups. It prospers by and depends upon a system of rail and water transportation which brings it jute and sisal hemp from the tropical lands, nitrate from Chile, and countless greater or lesser wares from the four corners of the earth. Most of all, however, the country depends, and must continue to depend, upon the town for the creation and distribution of those products of a high civilization without which our whole life would slip back to a lower and more primitive level. In other words, the maintenance of our general civilization is essential to Edmonton), G. W. Smith (U.F.A., Red Deer) and L. A. Giroux (Liberal, Grouard) supported the resolution.

J. C. Bowen, Liberal leader, opposed, on the ground that the sending of resolutions to Ottawa should be discouraged, and that the resolution was political in nature. Premier Brownlee replied that it was within the right of the people of Alberta to send resolutions to Ottawa on anything that concerned the welfare of the people of Alberta, when the matter was under the jurisdiction of the Dominion. If we had been as persistent in the past as other provinces in making our requests we would be better off today.

The resolution carried, Mr. Bowen being the only dissenter.

the farmer not less than to other classes of society. This is a fact apparently forgotten by certain dangerous friends of agriculture. They seem blind to the fact that if our life is to rise above the level of mere food production and back-covering a considerable fraction of our population must be freed from the soil to pursue the not less essential callings of the manufacturer, tradesman, engineer, scientist, teacher, writer, statesman, and artist; and that then they must be fed and clothed, and in general given economic rewards commensurate with the importance of their service. How many men and women can be spared and how adequately they can be equipped to pursue the labour necessary to endow our common life with machines or better government or greater spiritual goods depends first and last upon how large a surplus of food and clothing is produced in our agricultural industry. Hence their reciprocal interest in the farmer and in the maintenance of life, add to its beauties, and study its natural and spiritual mysteries, this rising standard of life must be supported by an enlarging flow of subsistence goods. Urban dwellers with their own true interests in safe-guarding the prosperity and hence the efficiency of our rural population, and equally, our country folk will advance their own well-being by a careful consideration of the true interests of towns and industries."

This somewhat lengthy quotation expresses the situation very eloquently. The prosperity of town and country is intertwined with the interests of each other. The town cannot prosper unless the country also prospers and neither can the country for any length of time unless the town does also. Each section supplies the market for the other. The rural market is in the towns and cities and the urban market is largely in the country. Only when the purchasing power of each group of people is at its highest considering the services performed, can the nation as a whole and in the long run truly prosper.

To bring about this general prosperity there must be some general working together for mutual benefit of the farmers on the one hand, and the commercial clubs of the town, the bankers, the railroads, the big industries etc., on the other hand. This is co-operation in its broadest sense. Thus we have co-operation between railroads, the government, and the farmers evident in better farming trains, forage and tree-planting trains, which run through the rural communities to carry the gospel of scientific agriculture. We also have co-operation in such things as the International Harvester Company conducting experimental farms and providing speakers to travel the country districts to institute better farming methods. Also co-operation by issuing helpful literature and distributing it to the farmers.

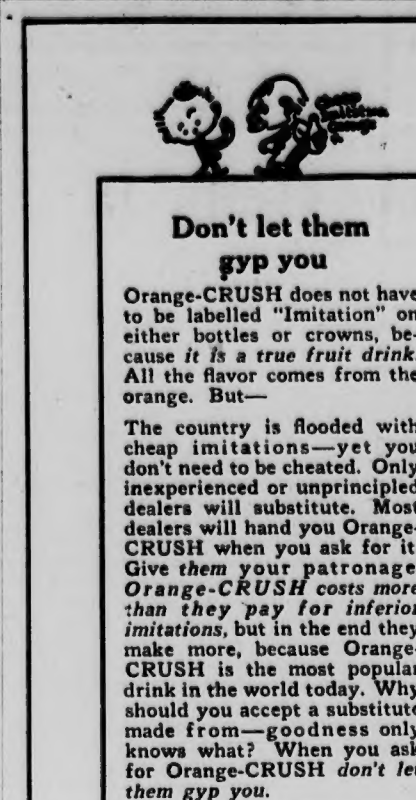

In the same way the Provincial and Dominion Governments co-operate with the farmer through the Experimental Farms, Agricultural Colleges, Departments of Agriculture, Marketing Services, and in numerous other agencies. Co-operation in its narrowest sense is the application to agriculture of the principle of association and unified direction which has characterized the organization of modern commerce. It is the organized working together of farmers for the more effective marketing of their products, and for the realization of the economies of large scale production. Co-operative marketing substitutes collective marketing for individual dumping. Buyers deal with a single agency instead of with a large number of competing producers. It also has for its object the flow of goods may be evened up the feeding of the market and wider distribution thus serving to stabilize the price throughout the year. This stabilizing of the price and levelling the spread of the volume of supply is a service to the consumer as well as to the producer.

As an example of the successful development of co-operative marketing on a large scale, in this country we have the Wheat Pool organized throughout the three prairie provinces under the name of the Canadian Wheat Producers Ltd., as a central selling agency for the three Provincial sections such as the Alberta section known as the Alberta Wheat Producers Ltd. Such are some of the ways in which the farmer is seeking to improve his financial standing by the adoption of the methods and practice of modern big business, commercial enterprises.

The farmers of the three prairie provinces have created a wheat marketing organization that this year will market 200,000,000 bushels of wheat for $300,000,000—one hundred million more than the gross income of the Canadian Pacific Railway; fifty millions more than the total receipts of the Canadian National. These figures show us something of the magnitude of the growth of the Wheat Pool and the enormous business which is now transacted by an organization that three short years ago was not in existence. The co-operative Dairy Pool and the Livestock Pool more recently organized have soon problems which still await solution but will not after judicious study prove any more formidable than has the gigantic Wheat Pool undertaking. The possibilities of these Pools is almost unlimited. The future alone will show how largely they will develop in what line. When we look at Denmark and see the development which has taken place in its multitude of co-operative enterprises during the last few decades then we must admit that the possibilities for success in Canada are boundless. Denmark even has its co-operative industries and bakeries which thus eliminate so much of the busy housewife's valuable time. Such is the stage of development reached in Denmark, what the future will give us in the way of development of co-operative enterprises in Canada rests on the lap of the gods.

The future of agriculture must rest on co-operation.

47 Countries Drink It

NO wonder Orange-CRUSH is the world's most popular drink. back proposition. It is the largest company Macleod has ever had on the stage, and it is the first of its size and kind to come here. Let's boost this big play so that we can repeat such performances in Macleod. If other cities in the west can do it, Macleod can. Let's go. There are twelve big singing and dancing hits, with a cast and chorus of sixty people. Splendid augmented orchestra, beautiful costumes and special settings; a real clever story, filled with music, comedy and heart interest. The most pretentious dramatic and musical comedy ever offered to the Macleod public.

STAGE COMEDienne IN MENJOU'S NEW COMEDY

Josephine Drake, blond comedienne, who made the biggest hit of her career as Maisie in the stage play, "Lilies of the Field," has her fourth screen role in Adolphe Menjou's latest picture, "A Social Celebrity," which comes to the Empress for 3 days—Thursday—Friday—Saturday next week. This is the comedy drama written by Monte Catterjohn and directed by Mal St. Clair, in which Menjou starts out as a barber in an old fashioned mid-western shop. Through the help of Miss Drake as Mrs. Jackson-Greer, a New York society matron, he becomes the proprietor of Gotham's leading beauty salon.

Miss Drake's theatrical career was

Oh dear, what a twister! I expect Mr. Printer's head will be in a whirl when he prints this.

She made her screen debut in "Bought and Paid For" several years ago. Preceding "A Social Celebrity," Miss Drake appeared in Paramount's "The Song and Dance Man."

RICHARD TALMADGE AT THE EMPRESS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

A new type of production for Richard Talmadge, which contains all the elements which have made this remarkable young star so popular and yet which has more logic and interest than is customary with pictures which feature stunts, and appears next Friday and Saturday at the Empress Theatre when "The Mysterious Stranger" is shown for the first time in this locality. If advice from Hollywood are any criterion, this production caused something of a furore when previewed before the experts of the film capital. It is an adaptation by James Bell Smith, who has taken such parts of Dr. Samuel Johnson's famous old story, "The History of Rasselas, Prince of Abyssinia," and has used them to splendid advantage on the screen. There is much in the work of the one-time dictator of the English letters that makes superb screen material, as "The Mysterious Stranger" proves conclusively; and the only surprising thing is that little if any of it has ever been used before. Director Jack Nelson has developed the really exasperating comedy sequences with fine skill, and the attempt of Dick to break into the Insane Asylum, under the impression that the wall surrounds the house in which he so long lived away from the world, is one of the funniest bits that could have been conceived. An Excellent cast is seen in support.

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should understand all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

"THE BENEFITS OF TREES IN TOWN AND COUNTRY"—PAPER READ BY MRS. J. A. WHITE AT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE SPRING-TIME RALLY ON TUESDAY, MARCH 16th, 1926

Trees are a necessity, and the things that we miss more than anything else in the landscape of these prairies. We that come out from the Old Country or from the East, where they grow in abundance, get so tired of the monotony of the "Bald-headed Prairie" where the wind gathers with such force. No trees to break the violence of the storm and very little shelter for man or beast.

Naturalists tell us that it was not always like this but a succession of fires have brought about this state of things. Trees once grew and flourished here, therefore with a little care and trouble they can be made to grow again. The Wilderness and the Solitary places shall be made glad and the Desert rejoice and blossom as the Rose.

The first thing that concerns women is the planting and care of trees around the home. No matter how beautiful our house may be, how elegantly furnished and filled with modern conveniences, if it is bare outside, no trees to give it shelter from sun and wind, the one thing is lacking to make it a true home.

Trees for the sake of the children; how they love to romp and play amongst the trees during the long summer and fall; games of Hide and Seek and Tag, and how they enjoy themselves on the swing. (Can you find a prettier picture than a child on a swing with green branches overhead and around) and how cool and refreshing it is when heated and tired from running about to fling themselves down under the shade of the old apple tree there with picture books or less strenuous play while the happy hours away and the jolly tea parties there, when the cups and saucers set mother comes out to share the fun and enjoy a much needed rest in the cool. Oh! Those happy haunting memories of a childhood! How good it is to be reminded, as the poet Hood says "I remember, I remember the fir trees the sky, it was a childish ignorance, But now 'tis little joy to know I'm farther off from Heaven Than when I was a boy."

How many an emigrant's heart, on the sun-baked veldt of Africa or the bare prairie of Canada, or America, has ached longing for the shade of the Fir and Pine trees of his boyhood days. "The green trees whispered sweet and low, it was a sound of joy, they were my playmates when a child and wrapped me in their arms so wild, still they look at me and smile as if I were a boy. Trees provide a most needed shelter around the farm buildings. They are of untold benefit to the stock; and what an ideal shelter from all kinds of weather they afford to the chickens. They are indeed the greatest asset to the poultry farm. It is a pleasant sight on a hot summer's day to watch them enjoying themselves under the shade of the branches; and then they are so safe from hawk and crow, which saves the farmers wife many losses.

The little birds will come in numbers to build their nests in the branches, filling the air with their song, and we shall feel like saying the winter is past the summer is here, the time of the singing of the birds has come." They will reward us for their shelter by ridding our garden of many a troublesome insect and pest.

A good shelter belt or wind break is of the greatest help in growing a garden. We are able to give the young and tender plants the protection they need from the hot sun and cold winds and many kinds of small fruits, such as raspberries, currants, strawberries, loganberries, etc., will flourish when sheltered in this way that would otherwise be a failure. The protection to the house of this windbreak at the west, when a strong wind is blowing, is a great boon to the housewife who otherwise would spend many toilsome hours with broom and mop, cleaning up the dust which percolates through every crevice. These storms generally seem to happen after a strenuous days cleaning.

Trees also serve as a snow trap keeping it from blowing away and thus conserving the necessary moisture. Sunflowers are very useful in making a temporary wind break. They grow so quickly soon making a wind break 10 or 12 feet high and are quite a help while we are waiting for the trees to grow. Caraganas, Cottonwoods, Russian Poplar, Manitoba Maple and Willows are the quickest grown trees and suit these Prairie Provinces the best, so making an ideal shelter and wind-break.

Government is offering us every facility in obtaining young trees and cuttings for planting out. If one writes to the nurseries at Indian Head, an Inspector will be sent in due time to survey one's place and give instructions how to prepare the ground. In due time the young saplings arrive and are planted according to instructions.

Trees give a feeling of permanence to the home. If more settlers had planted trees when they first came to the country, and so set themselves to the making of a real home, they would have got to love the place that they had spent time and attention upon, and they would not want to leave it all at the first reverse or set-back.

From a financial point of view, although one does not like to commercialize the beauties of nature, yet there is no doubt that a fine plantation of trees adds greatly to the value of the farm, increasing its worth by many hundreds of dollars. We all want to boost our town and make it attractive for tourists and visitors, and one of the best ways of doing this will be to have trees planted down our principal avenues.

as we see them in most up-to-date cities, and we are far behind other towns in that respect. How delightful it is to visit the parks and the public gardens in these towns, where a mass of bloom of all sorts and descriptions makes a delightful feast to the eyes. I know Macleod soil is gravelly and rocky, but this difficulty has been solved in many private gardens, and should not be unsurmountable in public places.

And now in conclusion, can we do something towards the improvement of the cemetery here "God's Acre", but one of the dreariest, most desolate, wind swept, and forsaken places, which I never pass without a shudder, just the white headstones which seem to speak of tragedy and heart break, and when motoring up to Calgary there were the same scenes of desolation outside the little towns we pass. This is so different to the cemeteries and Church-yards of the old country, which are always beautiful on account of the number of odd trees to be found growing there.

I think particularly of the cemetery in my own home town, which was more like a park, with Cyprus Firs, Willows, Elms, Ash, and trees of every description, growing in profusion, gay with large flower borders, well-kept and cared for, where people love to go and visit the last resting places of their dear ones, seats in the shade where they can sit and meditate, nearly every grave with its shrubs planted around, and its flower borders. Death does not seem such a terrible thing when we lay our loved ones in such a beautiful spot as this, where the birds sing and the trees and flowers speak to us of the hope of the resurrection. We read in the paper that Pincher Creek W. I. are buying a plot of ground adjacent to their cemetery that they may plant a shelter belt. If we could get a good wind break planted here, it would be a beginning. More trees would soon follow along the paths, and perhaps some flower borders would come next. I will leave this to your earnest consideration in the hope that something may be done.

We are in existence as an Institute to make the district a brighter and better place than we have found it, and in no better way can we leave our mark than in transforming our cemeteries into a place of beauty and brightness, so setting an example which other towns will follow.

APRIL ROD AND GUN

Of considerable interest in view of the recent controversy in Ontario over the usefulness or not of the rod, is a series of articles on Jack Miner's work that is running in Rod and Gun, the sporting magazine.
The April issue contains an interesting article with reference to his advice on the establishing of a large bird sanctuary.

The April issue of Rod and Gun
also contains a very good offering of reading matter of interest to the sportsman, the lover of wild life and the outdoors and the casual general reader. An account of a tenderfoot bear hunt in the Wilds of British Columbia makes very interesting reading as do the current articles of Raymond Thompson's series "In the Big Woods of Canada" and A. Bryan Williams'

"Breezes from the West."

The regular departments on habiting outdoor life, guns, dogs and trapping, contain some good reading matter as well as instructive matterial.

Rod and Gun is published monthly
by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario.

Beautiful stage settings, beautiful costumes, pretty dances, pretty girls

Easter holidays in the public and high school at Macleod commenced with Good Friday—the 2nd—and continue till Monday, April 12th—on which day school again opens. The week's holiday is in accordance with a motion passed by the Macleod School Board eliminating the odd holidays on Labor Day, Ash Wednesday, birthday of reigning sovereign, etc., and bunching these as Easter holidays in the school.

A fatal accident took place at a farm north of Macleod on Saturday evening, when Mrs. E. Jasman was almost instantly killed in a team and wagon runaway. Mr. and Mrs.
Jasman had gone for a barrel of water, and on returning home, Mr.
Jasman got out of the wagon first,
and proceeded to unhitch, Mrs. Jas-man still sitting in the wagon, when in some unaccountable way the horses took fright and bolted, and when passing the buildings, the wagon was upset and Mrs. Jasman was violently thrown against the fence, when something sharp pierced her head behind the ear, cutting a main artery and entering the brain.
She died in a few minutes without regaining consciousness. Dr. Bradford of Granum was summoned, but she died long before it was possible for him to arrive. Mrs. Jasman was

ORGANIZATION OF W. I. GIRLS' CLUB

The Women's Institute Girls' Club
was organized at a meeting held in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, March 29th. There were ten members joined and eight visitors.

The meeting opened by singing
'O Canada,' and Mrs. J. B. Sutherland, Constituency Conventor, took the chair, as owing to illness Miss Isabel Noble was unable to be present. Mrs. Sutherland briefly outlined the origin, object and policy of the Girls' Clubs.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Pres.—Miss Hope Dillingham.

Vice-Pres.—Miss Gladys Cooney.

Sec.—Miss Catherine Chow.

Directors—Misses Queenie Malby,
Joan Day and Muriel Callie.

Auditors—Misses Edith Armer
and Mary McLeod.

Reports of other Girls' Clubs were then read to give an idea of what other clubs are doing.

At the kind invitation of Mrs.
Sutherland it was decided to meet at her home Tuesday evening, April 20th, to hold the first regular meeting.

The meeting was concluded by singing "God Save the King."

Refreshments were then served by Messdames Sutherland, Greenwood and Perry.

MACLEOD ELKS INITIATE TEN NEW MEMBERS

The first meeting since the institution of the B.P.O. Elk Lodge No. 129, was held Monday night in the Odd Fellows Hall, when about 150 members were present, including about 50 members of the Granum Lodge, who journeyed to Macleod to assist the Baby Lodge of the Province to a good start off at the first regular meeting. The Exalted Ruler Joe Marks and the other officers of the Macleod Lodge have not been idle
since the institution of their Lodge, for they had 10 candidates for membership lined up for initiation into the mysteries of the Order. Dave Leyden, Exalted Ruler of Granum Lodge with his Degree Team, explained the three degrees to the Candidates, in a most efficient and capable manner. The Macleod boys were all delighted with the splendid way the Team put on the work,
considering the short time the Granum Lodge has been in existence, it was a great incentive for them to go ahead and also become proficient in the degree work of the order. The initiations of last night brings the membership of the Macleod Lodge to round the hundred mark, and the members are looking forward and planning to be of great service to the Town of Macleod and district. Many and varied are the activities of the

were Lodges have been established, and the Macleod Lodge is determined not to be behind their brother lodges, but will put forth every effort to advance the welfare of the community of Macleod and district in every possible way they can, and it is wonderful what a united body of men like this can accomplish when they put their shoulder to the wheel,
in the advancement of a good cause.

Refreshments were served
after the degree work, and a jolly time was had by all present. The Lodge arranged to hold their meeting on the first and third Fridays of the month, and also to hold their first dance on April 14th, in the Hudson's Bay Hall.

MACLEOD BROTHERHOOD HEARS ABOUT C. P. R.

A well attended meeting of the Brotherhood of the United Church
this week took the form of a railroad night. The tables looked the part, bearing a miniature C.P.R. box car and a great array of cakes all of which carried the insignia of the world's greatest railroad in fancy icing.

The feature of the evening was an illuminating address by Mr.
Richard Panter, one of the younger members of the Brotherhood, who traced in a very interesting manner
the political and geographic trials
through which the great transcontinental came into existence. The speaker gave due credit to the politicians and railway builders who,
with far seeing vision and dogged determination, fought desperate odds, and saw completed the great task of linking east and west in bands of steel. Mr. Fawcett and Rev. Irwin, in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, appealed for a sense of pride in the Canadian people who had attempted and carried through such a gigantic enterprise. The supper was interspersed with the recital of railroad stories and the hearty singing of community songs.

It had been decided to close the regular weekly suppers of the Brotherhood for the season with the end of March, but the members, by unanimous vote, decided to carry on until May, when the season will close with a ladies' night. The organization will meet thereafter
once a month during the hot weather, during which outdoor sports are being planned. The program for April as arranged by the program committee will be as follows:

April 6th.—An Easter supper.
April 13th.—Congregational meeting.
April 20th.—Great War Veterans'
night.
April 27th.—Canada Night.
